Dig Deeper: Read John 3:1-20. Compare and contrast Jesus's conversation with Nicodemus with Paul's argument in Romans 8.

WEEKLY PRAYER FOCUS

Praise God that he is loving!

Confess the times you have given into fear.

Thank Jesus for dying on the cross so that we would never be separated from the love of God.

Ask God to help us be "more than conquerors" through him.

Family Discussion Cheat Sheet

February 28: Condemnation is the act of declaring something wrong, evil or guilty. Earlier in Romans, Paul argues that all people have broken God's laws, and there for everyone is condemned to die. But because of Jesus, those who are in Christ Jesus are no longer condemned.

March 1: The Spirit who gives life is the Holy Spirit. There is one God, and three persons: the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit. Those who believe in Jesus have the Holy Spirit living inside of them.

March 2: Flesh can just mean our physical bodies, but in these verses, it refers to the sinful nature. Without Jesus, we would be slaves to sin and only love and worship other gods besides the true God. After we are saved, our hearts are changed but our flesh is the part of us that still wants to disobey God.

March 3: In the Old Testament, the people of God would kill an animal as a special offering to pay for their sin. Unless an animal was killed and offered to God in a specific way, God would not forgive them. Jesus is the Lamb of God that takes away the sin of the world. Instead of an animal dying for us, God himself sent his Son to die on the cross and take the punishment we deserved.

March 4: Jesus sums up the law this way: "to love the Lord, our God, with all our hearts, with all our souls, and with all our might, and to love our neighbor as yourself." All of us have broken God's law and deserve punishment. Everyone has failed to love God and neighbor perfectly through life – except Jesus. Jesus lived a perfect life and then took our punishment and died on the cross. Our guilt was placed on his account, and his righteousness was placed on our account. The righteous requirement of the law is fully met in us because Jesus met it, and now his Spirit lives in us.

March 7: The flesh desires anything and everything but God. Even good things, like friends, food, comfort, and possessions, can be idolatrous when we love it more than we love God. The Spirit desires that we find our full and complete satisfaction in God alone.

March 8: Even though the actions of disobedience are harmful, the flesh continues to pursue them. When the flesh gets its own way, it will bring us deeper and deeper into sin, and we will be miserable. A life lived for God might be uncomfortable right now, but it is worth it in the end. But a life lived for the flesh is a punishment in this life, and eternity.

March 9: The mind governed by the flesh is a mind that is set on disobeying God – even to its own detriment. Without Christ, it is impossible to obey God. We need his grace to do what is right.

March 10: Instead of being conformed to the pattern of this world, we need to be transformed by the renewing of our minds. We need to take our thoughts and make them obey Jesus. We need the Spirit to govern our minds.

March 11: If the Spirit lives in us, we may not see immediate perfection, but we should see increased victory over sin. We should see the fruits of the Spirit (read Galatians 5 for the list!) in us. We should be acting, thinking, and loving more like Jesus did.

March 14: Your body is still subject to death because we are still living in a fallen world. When Adam and Eve ate the forbidden fruit, all of creation was put under a curse. We are all destined to die because of our sin.

March 15: God did.

March 16: The Spirit resurrects our spirits so that we can say “no” to the flesh and withstand temptation. Instead of being dead in our sins, we are alive in Christ. And one day, God will resurrect our physical bodies, too.

March 17: Our obligation to live for God instead of for the flesh comes from our redemption. We were once slaves to sin and were mastered by the flesh. But now, we have been set free and redeemed (bought back) to serve God. He is now our new King, and our allegiance is now to his Kingdom, not our own.

March 18: The words “put to death” help us understand that we have an active role in becoming more like Christ. We need the Spirit’s power to do it, but we still participate by taking our disobedient thoughts, actions, and loves, and submitting them to God. We kill these parts of our character and put on the fruits of the Spirit.

March 21: A slave works for the Master, but does not inherit the Master’s riches. A son is loved by the Master and is an heir to all that the Master has.

March 22: We get it all! We receive every spiritual blessing in Christ, and we are heirs to the promises God made to the children of Abraham.

March 23: Life is full of different kinds of suffering, large and small. Some suffering comes from the curse of sin – like sickness, injury or grief. We can also suffer from the consequences of our own actions, like when the nation of Israel was taken into exile as punishment for their disobedience to God. We can even suffer because we are doing the right thing – like those who were persecuted for their belief in Jesus and martyred.

March 24: We look forward to the resurrection of our bodies, and the establishment of the new Heaven and new Earth!

March 25: Creation is continually in a state of decay because of the curse. After Adam and Eve disobeyed and ate the fruit, God placed all of creation (that is, the world and everything in it) under a curse so that it would experience decay, disruption, and entropy. One day, those in Christ will experience a new creation that will be beautiful, healthy, and untouched by sin.

March 28: The Spirit living in us is a foretaste of the future resurrection we will one day experience. We aren’t completely sinless yet, but we are already free from sin’s bondage. We are waiting for a future in which we will be able to serve God perfectly, without any sin at all. Our bodies will be resurrected and redeemed so that we no longer will be at war with our flesh.

March 29: When we don’t know what to pray for, the Spirit speaks with God for us. We might even just groan or cry – but the Holy Spirit knows us so well, and knows God so well, he is able to pray for us, or even help us find the words to pray. For this reason, you never need to fear that your words are good enough. The Holy Spirit will intercede for you!

March 30: “Good” in this verse means that God works in all things to make us more like Jesus. It might be uncomfortable, it might be undesirable to us – but God uses it to make us conform better to the image of his Son Jesus, and that is for our ultimate good.

March 31: It is good to know and trust that God chooses who will be saved because we need to understand that it does not depend on any good that we have done. Jesus does it all. There is nothing we can do or not do that will earn or lose God’s favor.

April 1: God uses all sorts of life circumstances – both blessing and suffering – to change us from the inside out.

April 4: No. If a person even wants to be saved, this is evidence that God is already calling them to salvation. Whoever is called to salvation will be justified, and whoever is justified will be glorified. This means that no one can lose their salvation. God does not lose anyone he has in his hand.

April 5: Because Jesus has defeated the ultimate enemies – sin, death, and Satan – there is not one person, force, or power that ought to cause us fear. Even if someone is to kill our bodies, we know that our Spirits are eternally alive in Christ, and one day he will resurrect our bodies.

April 6: We get it all! We are given every spiritual blessing in Christ, eternal life in heaven, bodily resurrection, wisdom for our life here on earth, freedom from sin, and the fruits of the spirit (to name a few!).

April 7: We can let other people make us feel guilty...especially when we seek their approval more than we seek God's. Satan, also, will accuse us, or bring up sin that we have done in the past.

April 8: We need to remember that when we are in Christ, no one can bring a charge against us that will bring ultimate condemnation. God is the one that justifies. The standard was fully satisfied with the death of Jesus, and that decision is final!

April 11: When we remember that Jesus loves us, he is always with us, and he is in control of everything, we have nothing left to fear. Even the worst case scenarios are "ok" to those in Christ, because "to live is Christ, and to die is gain."

April 12: No matter what grief, sadness, oppression, annoyances, or stress we face, we can rest in the knowledge that God is the one that has fought the only really important battle. The victory is already won. When the King has conquered the enemy, we can run behind him in confidence.

April 13: Jesus's resurrection defeated death once and for all. Death no longer means eternal separation for the believer. Instead, it means presence with the Lord.

April 14: If we feel like we are separated from the love of Jesus, it isn't Jesus who has stopped loving us – it is us who are denying or doubting it's presence. When we neglect our relationship with the "Spirit who gives life" it makes sense that we will feel the burden of loneliness and separation. But we don't need to... because nothing can separate us from his love.

April 15: "God demonstrates his own love for us in this: while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us." (Romans 5:8)
